

Macro Photography Workshops 2019

Half day workshops in the West Sussex countryside

A unique opportunity to join a macro photography workshop with a focus on British and migrant moths and other local wildlife. Located near to Chichester in West Sussex on a private estate in the Sussex Downs.

Tony Stevens is a wildlife photographer and a breeder of British and migrant Hawkmoths. His personal portfolio of moth and butterfly images and macro photography is inspiring and intriguing.

Tea, coffee and a toilet will be available, and the local pub serves good food and a decent pint of ale if you fancy lunch there.

Held from mid May onwards – from 9.30 to 12.30 on a Monday or Friday £85 per person and limited to 4 photographers per session. One to one sessions available on request.

Tony Stevens * Facebook My Wild Life Tony Stevens or The Image Circle * Instagram Specsnbass.
Contact or message me on 07734103014. A more detailed explanation of the workshop is available on the Image Circle website www.theimagecircle.com in my latest blog.